

Make your own Odious BLOCKS

Option 1:

Time: ~15 minutes, Cost: super cheap ($15 - $20 to buy a block stacking game)

1. Download the PDF and print it out on regular paper.
2. Take some scissors and cut out the boxes, keeping the truths and dares separate (you can put them in separate sandwich bags).
3. Buy a generic block stacking game. Every time somebody pulls a block, they choose either a truth or a dare out of one of the bags. The rest of the rules are standard (instructions here).

Option 2:

Time: ~45 minutes, Cost: a few bucks (plus $15 - $20 to buy a block stacking game)

1. Download the PDF.
2. Call your local print shop to make sure they have full sized sticky paper (also called 8 1/2 x 11 label paper). If they have it, get the game printed on that. Alternately you can order the label paper online and print at home.
3. Cut out the boxes (keeping the truths and dares separate).
4. Take a generic block stacking game and stick a truth on one side and a dare on the other of each block (note: there are 57 truths and 57 dares in Odious Blocks... if the block stacking game you buy only has 54 blocks, just don't use your three least favorite truths/dares).
